The commission's refusal to accept federal money to fund the health care program for 400 women in Ravalli County will cause unnecessary and extreme hardship for many women and their families. The repercussions will affect all residents of the county in many ways. The reason given by the three dissenting commissioners for not accepting the money sounded purely personal and biased. There are plenty of public responses to this action that provided many good reasons for funding this program which I am sure you know about so I won't belabor the points made adequately by others. I am extremely disappointed that Ravalli County should make the news because of this action that affects those who rely these services the most and the taxpayers who provide the money for funding the program and will certainly provide the money to cover the fallout from not having these services.
