Subject: [EXTERNAL] dirt bikes

I live on Eight Mile Creek Road in Florence and have since 2008. When we moved in, there was very little traffic on Eight Mile Creek Road but with all the subdivisions being built east of our house, traffic is getting very busy and lots of dirt bikes on the road. Some of them ride at top speed doing wheelies and other unsafe "tricks" but by the time I called the Sheriff they are down the road and riding in that subdivision close to where Granite Creek Road begins. Also, now we have kids who ride dirt bikes on their residential dirt road, which is a County Road, where they live. Something has to be done to get these dirt bikes off the road and persuade them to ride on approved trails and not up and down residential roads. I know there is no noise ordinance in Ravalli County which I think is absolutely ridiculous. I've had neighbors hold actual church services, on Sunday morning, in their back yard with speakers the size of a small car. Ravalli County is growing like mad and we need something to control noise. Any suggestions?
