"Always vote for principle, though you may vote alone, and you may cherish the sweetest reflection that your vote is never lost." -- John Quincy Adams

"Government is not reason. It is not eloquence. Government is force; like fire it is a dangerous servant -- and a fearful master."

—George Washington, 1797

"A wise and frugal government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, which shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

—Thomas Jefferson, First Inaugural Address, 1801

"I would rather be exposed to the inconveniences attending too much liberty than to those attending too small a degree of it."

—Thomas Jefferson, letter to Archibald Stuart, 1791. ME 8:276
