Forest Service accepting applications for permanent seasonal jobs

Missoula MT, October 19, 2023—

Forest Service officials announced that they are accepting applications between October 19 and November 22 for 500 seasonal jobs in Montana, Idaho and North Dakota. ‘These entry level positions provide an excellent opportunity to begin a career with the Forest Service and are critical to the work we do,’ said Dan McKeague, Deputy Regional Forester.

Available positions include all non-fire activities such as trail work, maintaining recreation facilities, managing wilderness areas, timber marking, fisheries and wildlife management.

Permanent seasonal positions work 13 pay periods (six months) and have 13 pay periods off. As career positions, they may be increased to 18 pay periods on and 8 pay periods off or full time work depending on needs and available funding. Eligible applicants must be 18 years old and U.S. citizens or legal residents. Applications are being accepted through USAJOBS.gov at the following links:
