RE: Comments on Ravalli County Airport

I do not believe that revisions to the Ravalli County Airport should be done. According to some reports the number of large corporate jets has declined which would indicate the need to enlarge the runway is not there.

The amount of land needed to be "aquired" or rezoned means that property owners will have little say as to their compensation for their land, or the devaluation of their property through rezoning. I believe this is unjust.

I believe the lure of Federal money for the project may look appealing, however these projects seldom if every come in on budget and they wind up costing the tax payers more money again and again.

I do not think enlarging the runway will be a benefit to the majority of Ravalli County citizens or that it will create long lasting employment for very many people in Ravalli County.

Since the portion of the cost that the County would have to pay has increased, it certainly seems like an unwise investment during this time of economic hardship for many of the County's tax payers.
