'Dear Commissioners,

This is for your electronic files. Gary Wolfe said he would give you a hard copy today.

All you have to do about this issue is ask the EPA to test the rain, snow, surface water, possibly tissue and urine from ruminants, like cattle or goats, and the foliage that ruminants eat, especially wild ruminants, for toxins, especially Roundup, which chelates the minerals in the animals, causing severe mineral deficiencies. I will pay for the stamp to mail the request to the EPA. The EPA is the only agency that can do anything about this issue. Testing needs to be done as soon as possible. For some species, time is running out.

All the best,
