After your Nov. Board Meeting there was an article in the Ravalli Republic inviting people interested in discussing children with brain injury to attend the Dec. Board Meeting because it was going to be discussed. I thought that was very interesting that the Commissioners would be discussing that topic, but did attend the December Board meeting expecting someone knowledgeable with childhood brain injury to lead a discussion on this topic. A few minutes before the meeting started someone asked me why I was there and I said to hear about the child brain injuries. She said, "Oh, that is Judy Hoy's report. It is here on the agenda." I did not know Judy Hoy. I was surprised with her report wanting money to do that research. That topic was researched 20 years or more ago in various places around the U.S. Considering the situation, I think that Mr. Mitchell's suggestion of her going to the U and finding an interested person, or Grad Student, is the way for her to go.

I am sending this to the Commission members so you will know my thoughts on this discussion.
