I haven't taken pictures, but there have been 3 vehicles (non residents) stuck on Northview this week. The additional traffic has made the icy roads worse than would have been without it and have obstructed residents to use the road..

Here we go again one truck with trailer stuck and jack knifed again and now a second truck stuck trying to get the first truck out, really goes to show how safe this road continues to be. the speed on the road has increased with the through traffics attempts to not get stuck. And as for the hill with incidents like this there are now big holes being dug into it from all the vehicles getting stuck, which is great for us residents who actually live on this road.
